CONVENIENCE MATTERS

Having everything a patient needs under one roof is a major benefit for our patients. They do not need to go to one facility for imaging, another for surgery, another for chemotherapy and yet another for radiation. Everything can be completed on the Houston Methodist Sugar Land campus making it more convenient for the patient.

At Houston Methodist Sugar Land, the breast care team works together and communicates frequently to customize each patient-specific treatment plan. We continue to collaborate closely throughout treatment to stay informed of updates and to ensure the best possible outcome.

Our collaborative approach enables each patient to receive the care they need in a timely and convenient fashion — all here on the Houston Methodist Sugar Land Hospital campus. AFTERCARE IS IMPORTANT, TOO

Many breast cancer survivors have significant needs long after their formal course of treatment is over. At Houston Methodist Cancer Center at Sugar Land, we offer a proven, multidisciplinary survivor program designed to help patients cope with life after cancer.

It begins with special physical and occupational therapy that helps patients overcome the weakness, fatigue, difficulty in moving their arms, peripheral neuropathy, joint pain and other side effects caused by breast cancer treatment.

Our team also includes lymphedema therapists to help reduce post-treatment swelling of the arms and legs.

To aid patients in dealing with the psychological and spiritual issues that may accompany a diagnosis of cancer, our oncology nurse navigator, clinical social workers and chaplains provide ongoing assistance and resources. And because people heal differently, we offer survivor support groups as well as pet, art, music, yoga and massage therapy.

We also provide personalized, in-depth cancer genetic counseling that can help patients and their family members make future choices.
